

Because proximity and 'short breaks' can also mean a total change of scene, Franche-Comté has smashed the mould and updated its classics to offer you a range of breaks in a class of their own. What would you say to atypical accommodation for a complete change of setting and viewpoint - fresh air for mind and body? For an escapade with your family, your friends, or your partner, there's more than enough to fill your scrapbook with unforgettable images... and exciting new emotions!

ROBINSON CRUSOE AFLOAT

The Domaine des Cabanes des Grands Lacs is breaking new ground, and a few weeks ago it launched a new concept: in addition to its tree houses, it is now offering its guests a stay of one night (or more!) in its floating cabins.

From your private jetty with its boat, you will dock on the terrace of your round wooden cabin, floating on the water, from which you will enjoy a ringside seat of the great spectacle of nature and its amazing sound track. The birds, the fish, the changing light... the scene is idyllic. Aperitifs, dinner and breakfast (fit for a king!) are delivered to your jetty. For couples, an evening, a night and a dawn spent here is an experience that you will surely never forget.

GENTIAN - ALL THE POWER OF THE MOUNTAIN

In July, you can't miss the tall gentian plants that dapple the Jura valleys with their yellow flowers - flowers that the plants only produce after seven years!

Proof, when they do, that the roots have drawn all their strength and character from the rocky, limestone land. And it is these roots that are distilled, giving a real taste of the mountains and invigorating properties that are practically medicinal to this regional liqueur with its concentrated aromas. This level of concentration is not surprising, considering that a root reaches 2 kg in 15 years and that it takes 13 to 16 kg to produce 1 litre of spirit. All the secrets of gentian are revealed at the Michel Distillery in Chapelle-des-Bois, established in 1888.
